Japan cast the die today in the bloody war of totalitarism giants raging on the plains of White Russia and what once was Poland, just as Berlin announced that 100,000 Soviet troops had surrendered east of Bialystok.

The Tokyo government of Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye, after an emergency conference with Emperor Hirohito, announced that a decision had been reached in view of the "dangerous condition" developing throughout the entire world.

Speculation rages
But what that decision was remained a mystery.
Speculation raged in every capital.

Chungking said flatly that Japan had decided to go along with her axis commitments by blockading Vladivostok against lease-lend supplies to Russia from the United States. Japanese planes were reported winging northward en masse to unspecified destinations.

Rome and Berlin themselves said nothing. Moscow too was silent. All awaited reports from their respective ambassadors, who descended upon the Japanese foreign office

The whirl of machinery should be heard in the wheat fields this week. The wheat is golden brown, apparently dead ripe and in the past three days nature's alchemy has worked fast. In that peculiar afterglow at twilight last night the gold of the wheat field backed by the blue of the sky was a picture that any artist would find difficult to reproduce.

Quite a number of folks from the east side had to walk to their employment, this morning. Reason, one of the street cars plying between the Diamond and Cascade Park broke down about 7:30 on Washington street, down town. Conditions are about right for a fine bottleneck in traffic on the Perry highway, north of the Greenville-Sandy Lake intersection, over the Fourth traffic period. There is a detour of about two miles around the construction work on the overhead over the railroad tracks, just north of the intersection, and the detour goes through Hadley. There are three one-way bridges on the route within the space of about a mile, and with the heavy traffic on the highway there is a lot of chance for congestion.

LONDON, July 2.—Prime Minister Winston Churchill left unexplained today the sudden shift of famed Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell from his post as British commander-in-chief of the Middle East.

While press and public speculated on his replacement by Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck—known as "the Auk"—as possible part of a plan for greater assistance to Soviet Russia against Germany, Churchill turned aside all questioners in the House of Commons.

"I cannot see any time in the immediate future when it will be necessary for me to make a statement on this subject," Churchill said.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—The Soviet government, it was learned today, is anxious to purchase upwards of $100,000,000 worth of American materials to bulwark its defense industries.

At the same time, federal agencies studying a Russian request to place orders for materials in the United States, indicated the American government will release more than $10,000,000 worth of machinery to the Soviet immediately.

Referred To O. P. M.

The Soviet appeal for materials, made by Russian Ambassador Constantin Oumansky, was promptly referred to the O. P. M. and other defense agencies by acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles.

In these quarters it is reported that Amtorg, the official Soviet trading organization, is prepared to spend $100,000,000 or more for heavy machinery, oil drilling equipment, forging and pressing implements, electrical devices, oil products and other machine tools.

MOSCOW, July 2.—Heavy fighting that raged throughout the night on the Murmansk, Dvinsk, Minsk and Luek sectors of the Russo-German battle front was announced by the Soviet high command today.

"The enemy attacked the Srednis Peninsula," a new Russian war communiqué stated, "but our troops showed strong resistance, inflicting heavy losses."

"In the direction of Minsk and Dvinsk our troops attacked, advancing tank units."

Lwow Evacuated

Earlier, confirming that Soviet forces have evacuated Lwow (Lemberg), in Soviet Poland, the high command announced a German-Finnish offensive is pushing down the Karelian isthmus only 70 miles from Leningrad.

"The British radio in a broadcast heard by CBS quoted a Norwegian broadcast as saying that the Russian base of Vupuri (Viborg) in what formerly was Finnish territory already had been surrounded after Finnish forces attacked from the sea."

Today's Russian war communiqué said that 54 German planes and 22 Russian aircraft were shot down in air battles yesterday and added:

"A squad of saboteurs dressed in red army uniforms attempted to seize a military objective in the region of Hanggo. They were successfully driven off in the rear."

"A considerable party of our parachute troops seized a small village after desperate fighting."

Japan Decides Upon Nazi-Soviet Policy

By JOSEPH DYNAN

TOKYO, July 2.—The government of Imperial Japan decided its policy with regard to the war between Germany and Soviet Russia today but the momentous decision was kept a carefully guarded secret.

While diplomats of Germany, Italy and Russia descended upon the foreign office in an effort to obtain a clear delineation of Japan's future attitude, a spokesman told the press: "Japan's policy has been decided."

There was no indication as to when any official announcement would be made to clarify this country's position. Japan is a member of the Rome-Berlin Axis. But only a few weeks ago, Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka signed a treaty of amity with Josef Stalin's Russia now pitted in gigantic conflict against Germany on the Russo-Polish plains.

The only clue to the decision apparently reached just before Matsuoka and Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye warned that Japan faces "grave obstacles" lay in the prominence given by Tokyo newspapers to the Axis' action in officially recognizing the pro-Japanese government Premier Wang Ching-Wei as the official regime of China.

Matsuoka and Konoye reported to Emperor Hirohito after the last of a series of emergency cabinet sessions which have been in progress almost without cessation since Germany attacked Russia ten days ago.

It was assumed that the emperor gave his imperial sanction to whatever course of action the cabinet had decided upon in what Konoye and Matsuoka both termed "the serious emergency before our eyes."

BERLIN, July 2.—One hundred thousand weary and defeated Russian soldiers surrendered to the German army east of Bialystok today, the German high command announced.

An official communiqué said: "A large part of the Soviet army encompassed east of Bialystok was definitely destroyed."

"In a tank battle concluded yesterday in Galicia, 226 armored cars were either destroyed or captured."

Tax Collections Reach All-Time High In Nation

Fiscal Year Ends With Deficit Of $5,103,000,000 Despite Big Collections

WASHINGTON, July 2.—Secretary of Treasury Morgenthau today reported that the treasury ended up the fiscal year two days ago with a net deficit of $5,103,000,000 despite the fact that tax collections reached an all-time high of $7,607,000,000.

Morgenthau also revealed that total government expenditures for the fiscal year were $12,710,000,000, exceeded only by the war years of 1918 and 1919. Of the money spent, $6,048,000,000 represented outlays for the defense, including the army, navy and British aid programs.

The public debt at the end of the fiscal year, according to Morgenthau, reached $48,861,000,000, compared to $42,967,000,000 at the end of the 1940 fiscal year.

Revenues, or tax collections, were almost $500,000,000 greater than in any year in history. The $7,607,000,000 figure for revenues topped the previous high of $7,126,502,000 collected in 1919.

Wonder how many noticed the wonderful sunset of Tuesday evening. Clouds formed about 7 o'clock as for a good rain. The lowering sun shone brightly through the clouds toward the west, making them appear as bright silver. Soon, in the east appeared a beautiful rainbow, the first we have seen for many months. Later, in the west, the clouds turned to a light red hue, then deepened as the sun sank and waned, and the deep red color lasted until after 9 o'clock.

With but a day or so to go before the advent of the Fourth, it is strangely silent in the city and county areas. The reason of course, is the state law which forbids use of fireworks. But even as late as a year ago some fireworks were smuggled in from Ohio and the reports were heard now and then in the Fourth period. This year fireworks seem to have been permanently shelved, as was the intention of the law.

Meanwhile, General Wavell takes to India both his own fame and the thanks of the nation.

Wavell, who defeated the Italians in North Africa, held out against the Germans and charted the successful British thrust into Syria, replaces Auchinleck as commander-in-chief in India.

At the same time Capt. Oliver Lyttelton, until recently president of the Board of Trade, was named a minister of state to represent the war cabinet in the Middle East.

A veiled hint that the shift may presage new British action was seen in this comment by the authoritative British Press association: "Wavell is the most brilliant general the war has yet produced. He knows Russia as well as he knows Africa and served in Russia as military attaché before the revolution. He has been there several times since, and on the last occasion his dispatches home contained high approval of the Red Army's infiltration tactics."

In addition, the Moscow radio said the Council of People's Commissars had decreed compulsory air raid precaution training for all Soviet citizens between 16 and 60. This announcement added that children between the ages of eight and 16 would be taught use of "individual means of passive defense."

The war communique said: "In the direction of Murnansk our troops, by fierce fighting, are stemming the advance of numerically superior enemy forces."

By a succession of moves, President Roosevelt has served notice on Germany and its "Axis" allies that the United States hopes to avoid definite war—but is determined to keep an ever-increasing flow of war goods to Great Britain.

The President had no comment on the proposal of Navy Secretary Frank Knox that United States warships "strike now" at "the German menace which impedes delivery of American military supplies to Britain."

He did, however, take definite exception to the practice of polling citizens on the subject of whether or not the United States wanted to go to war.

The President suggested that anyone would vote "no" if they were asked, "do you want to go to war?"

Mr. Roosevelt pointed a critical finger at two polls seeking popular opinion.

in quick rotation the moment it was announced that a decision had at long last been attained.

Diplomats in Tokyo were impressed by the prominence given in the controlled Japanese press to the fact that only yesterday—possibly in anticipation of today's decision—the axis powers and all their satellites extended full diplomatic recognition to the Japanese puppet government of Premier Wang Ching-Wei established in Nanking.

But in the meantime, three ambassadors danced attendance upon Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka.

Seek Explanation

They were the envoys of Germany, Italy and their enemy, the USSR—but they all had one and the same object. That was to obtain an explanation of a cryptic statement issued by Matsuoka, who suddenly unburdened himself of his comment on the Russo-German war.

"Japan intends to keep a close watch on the development of the situation."

A little light on what Matsuoka meant may have been shed by Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye, who urged the Japanese people in a radio broadcast to "go the way of Japan" regardless of what other nations do or what obstacles may be found ahead.

"Japan can rely on her own strength," Konoye said.

BERLIN REPORTS 100,000 RUSSIANS TAKEN PRISONER

400 tanks and 300 mobile guns were captured, the high command said.

At the same time, the high command announced that 220 Soviet tanks were destroyed in battle on the Galician plains yesterday, while an additional 39 Soviet war planes were shot down in combat and 43 destroyed on the ground.

The officially-controlled German radio, commenting on the brief high command announcement of the mass surrender, said:

"It has not yet been possible to ascertain the exact number of prisoners taken."

"But the larger part of the Red Army east of Bialystok has been crushed."

"Thus far it is known that 100,000 prisoners have been taken, while 400 tanks and 300 guns and have been counted."

Spearheads Drive Forward
BERLIN, July 2.—German mechanized spearheads drove forward like ramrods deep into Soviet Russia today—far beyond the three great "iron rings" in which 1,000,000 Red soldiers are suffering "decimation."

German authorities said the offensive pushes are making progress despite desperate Soviet efforts to halt them.

Nazi columns that pushed past the White Russian metropolis of Minsk were declared to be intensifying their thrust against Moscow.

German authorities declared a tremendous battle is now being fought on that sector of the sprawling front. They said the Red Army rallied frantically to ward off the growing danger to Moscow, hurling masses of new troops and land armadas of tanks into the struggle.

Soviet Reinforcements
These Soviet reinforcements, German officials said, fought tenaciously from hastily built ground positions while Red air force squadrons swooped down in constant attacks.

In these aerial assaults, aimed chiefly against the stretches of the Minsk-Moscow highway—the road to Moscow followed by Napoleon—already occupied by German forces, the Red planes repeatedly encountered Luftwaffe units and wild aerial battles ensued.

German military authorities added that the Soviets were suffering "appalling losses" as a result of their own counter-attacks and that these losses were rapidly breaking the offensive power of the Red Army.

Following the German occupation of Riga, former capital of Latvia, German forces were said to have snapped shut a huge pincer in the Duna river area, trapping huge Soviet forces who now are "vainly struggling to break through."

A similar pincer has been closed around Red forces outside Lemberg (Lwow) in Sovietized Poland—now firmly in German hands—and the "annihilation" of still more Soviet troops trapped in the Bialystok area was said to be approaching.

In these aerial assaults, aimed chiefly against the stretches of the Minsk-Moscow highway—the road to Moscow followed by Napoleon—already occupied by German forces, the Red planes repeatedly encountered Luftwaffe units and wild aerial battles ensued.

German military authorities added that the Soviets were suffering "appalling losses" as a result of their own counter-attacks and that these losses were rapidly breaking the offensive power of the Red Army.

Following the German occupation of Riga, former capital of Latvia, German forces were said to have snapped shut a huge pincer in the Duna river area, trapping huge Soviet forces who now are "vainly struggling to break through."

A similar pincer has been closed around Red forces outside Lemberg (Lwow) in Sovietized Poland—now firmly in German hands—and the "annihilation" of still more Soviet troops trapped in the Bialystok area was said to be approaching.

MEN'S GARDEN CLUB HAS HIKE-FISH FRY

A hike and fish fry featured the meeting of the Men's Garden club held Tuesday evening at the cottage of Andrew Dadds, located along the Slippery Rock creek.

Not depending on those who went early to fish, the social committee provided amply for all in attendance. J. W. Moorehead as chief chef was assisted by John L. Emery and Kenneth Brenneman, with Leslie Brindle as chief fryer.

After voting the event a huge success, the president of the club, Andrew Dadds, presided at the business session and guests were introduced. It was voted to hold the usual fall flower show, and the following committee was appointed: William C. Williams, chairman, Joseph McMillin and E. C. Gatrall, with Prof. Charles G. Lindner as secretary of the show.

It was decided, also, to hold the annual corn roast in August this year, and Owen P. Fox was appointed chairman of this event.

Last evening's speaker was Prof. Lindner, who presented his report as delegate to the annual convention of the Men's Garden Clubs of America, held in Syracuse, N. Y., from June 19 to 22, and a travelogue of the various excursions to outstanding gardens visited by convention members.

The next meeting of the New Castle Men's Garden club will be August 5, at the Dadds cottage, in the form of a nature study tour, under the leadership of N. R. Cassillo, Owen P. Fox and William C. Williams.

HOW LONG FOR RUSSIA?

ALTHOUGH the Russian situation is not hopeless, it must be recognized as desperate and as serving to emphasize the urgency of action by Britain to take full advantage of the respite provided by the diversion in the East.

The German high command claims victories over the Russian armies that, even if greatly discounted, makes the situation appear ominous. And, what is even more disturbing, Moscow guardedly admits that Nazi forces are continuing to drive into Russian territory and that Moscow is the immediate objective of the invaders.

On the face of things, little hope is offered that Russia will be able to endure long the terrific onslaughts of the German armies, but it would nevertheless be unwise to underestimate Russia's power to absorb disasters, as demonstrated during the last war under conditions somewhat comparable to those existing now.

In 1914, the Russian people were the victims of oppression, even as they are now. Corruption was rampant, and among the greatest sufferers were the soldiers in the field, who were poorly fed, ill-clothed, and equipped. There was little reason why they should fight with spirit and courage. Victory under the czar would mean nothing in the way of better living, greater freedom, and happiness. Nevertheless, they fought with almost sublime heroism.

Even after Tannenberg, where the invincible team of Hindenburg and Ludendorff first functioned, the Russians were not whipped. They fought again at the Masurian Lakes and lost. After that came Gorlice, the Vulcan Pass, and Riga, all of them desperate battles and all of them lost by Russia. But three years passed before Russia was out of the war.

The same military experts who predict that the Soviet will be out of the war in three months also concede that Germany cannot afford to devote more than this period to the Russian enterprise. This is a task for the summer. The perils of a winter campaign against Russia cannot be risked, especially while the British are gaining the ascendancy in the air and pounding the German-held channel coast and even the Reich with increased ferocity.

Russia may last indefinitely, notwithstanding the early reverses, or may prove no more formidable than the other nations that have come to grips with Germany in land operations. The need of the present crisis is clear. The United States, slowly attaining increased production tempo, must fill the skies with bombers and fighting planes for England, and the R. A. F., whose skill and daring commands the admiration of the free world, must visit total destruction upon industrial Germany.

MORE AMERICANS

Apparently there is to be a surcease of dolorous predictions that the time is not far off when, because of a declining birth rate, continental United States will have a population of less than the present 132,000,000. For declining is just what the birth rate is not doing.

Surprise was expressed in Washington that in the first four months of this year there were 20,000 more births than in the same period of last year. This is indicative of a rate for 1941 of 18.5 per 1,000 as contrasted with 18.0 for 1940.

Standing alone, of course, this half-point increase does not seem to be consequential, but it is the highest rate since 1930, when the figure was 18.9, and represents the fourth consecutive year of fractional increases. In the postwar period the curve was sharply downward, but it did not fall below 20 per 1,000 until 1928.

The indicated 18.5 for this year contrasts with 18.7 for Germany in 1937, the last year birth figures were made available, when from one side of his mouth Herr Hitler was bewailing the lack of "Lebensraum" for a crowded population, and on the other preaching the patriotic need of larger families.

ENTER NEW FISCAL YEAR

It would be ironical to wish the American taxpayer a happy new fiscal year, starting with the current month, for his burden will be far heavier than in the twelvemonth just ended. However, he will not start paying according to the new rates until next March and in the meantime has opportunity to make provision for the increased direct and indirect taxes on his income.

The latest annual deficit, as June gives place to July, is substantially less than the budget estimate of six billions plus. There has been more revenue than expected, because of generally better business. But from now on defense will take increasingly heavier toll from the taxpayers' pockets.

During the twelve months just ended, defense spending amounted to six billions. During this new fiscal year it will be more than two and a half times as great. This means a new record for spending, exceeding the World War high of eighteen and a half billions by about two and a half billions. Surpassing the thirteen-and-a-half-billion deficit of 1919, one of nearly eighteen billions is indicated.

No one can grasp the magnitude of such figures. But everybody can realize the need, never so great, for the government to hold down every expenditure not absolutely demanded by defense. For in each of the coming twelve months much more will be spent on defense alone than it cost to run the government for a whole year just before the World War.

Speaking of parking problems, Kansas is worrying about where to put 175,000,000 bushels of wheat.

Nazi propaganda, that if Suez falls to the Germans, South America may begin collaborating with Hitler, contains two "ifs."

Will a threatened 10 per cent reduction in the enrollment of young men in the nation's colleges next fall bring 10-man football teams?

All of the taxpayers' anxieties may soon be confirmed by Congress, whose committees are now energetically at work on the new tax schedule.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph.D.

THUMBING RIDES HARMFUL

A few years ago in this column I condemned hitch-hiking. One of the strongest objections to that article was a college student who wrote me that except for thumbing rides he would not be able to get a college education.

In my reply to him I asked, "What of it? Do you suppose any youth has the right to make of himself a public nuisance, in order to go to college?" I might have reminded him of the college lad who, as reported in the papers about that time, decided he should hold up a gas station "in order to go on to college."

Like any other traveling salesman assured me he gained a great deal of profitable enjoyment from the company of the hitchhikers he picked up. He objected that I should suggest denying him this pleasure. He seemed not to consider the inconvenience and annoyance imposed by hitch-hikers on other travelers.

If hitch-hiking is a desirable practice, why have 21 states prohibited it by law?

You may have read a recent magazine article, "He Thumbed His Way Through College," and gained the impression, as I did, that the writer was trying to make a strong case for hitch-hiking, by applauding the lad who has paid most of his way through college by selling a system of hitch-hiking to other college students.

Some Parents Approve
What makes hitch-hiking so serious a problem is the fact that many parents of influence and affluence look upon hitch-hiking by their sons as a laudable means of exercising self-reliance and thrift. I have heard preachers and college professors tell with great pride about the son who hitch-hikes to and from college.

Some parents brag of their high school son and his pal who thumb their way across the continent, which can hardly be done without violating some state law. I concede that these ride-begging youths do get experience and training in self-reliance. Have not most inmates of reformatories and penitentiaries acquired considerable first-hand experience and self-reliance through criminal actions? But that's hardly the kind of experience and self-reliance one would hold up for ideal growth in character and citizenship.

Sets Up Fake Values
When I buy from your child something I don't want—say a toy gun he has made—just because he is your child, and you and I are friends and neighbors, I do your child a moral harm, no doubt. I help him gain false values. If my son, preying on your sympathies, induced you to stop your car and take him in, probably holding up and endangering the cars behind you, would be helping my son gain untrue values. If I approved my son's imposing on your good nature and the rights of other motorists, I would encourage him in committing a public nuisance, and in the states with anti-hitch-hiking laws, encourage him in deliberate violation of these laws.

I may be wrong, but as I see it, the issue is clear. As a parent, I cannot defend hitch-hiking. I owe it to my son and to society to bring him up not to be a hitch-hiker. Please let me add, however, that I am not condemning the motives of parents who approve or encourage hitch-hiking, nor the youths who as laborers, caddies, or college lads find it a way to get along. They probably have not considered it a public wrong at all. If, as it appears to me, they weighed the matter broadly, I believe they would.

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)

BOSTON—Donald D. Shlansky, president of the National Education Association, believes that America's fate in a post-war world is being decided in the school rooms. "The 30,000,000 individuals in our schools today will be important in our army, navy and factories if we become directly involved in the World War, and will decide the fate of democracy after the war is over."

WASHINGTON—AFL President William Green calls for an intensification of labor's war against Communism. "Whatever foreign policy the administration may follow as a military expedient, there can be no reversal of our unrelenting opposition to Communists within our democracy."

MOSCOW—Foreign Vice-Commissar S. A. Lozovsky foresees the "beginning of the end" of Chancellor Hitler. "The day the Soviet-German war began will go down as the most unfortunate date in German history."

BOSTON—Secretary of Navy Frank Knox contends that Americans must wake up, not alone to its danger, and the dangers are real and awesome, but to the realities of the sacrifice demanded.

Bible Thought For Today

Put not forth thyself in the presence of the king, stand not in the place of great men. For better it is that it be said unto thee, Come up hither; than that thou shouldst be put lower in the presence of the prince whom thine eyes have seen. Prov. 25:6, 7.

The Democracies may lose, but they will go down talking.

Many people when they have parties don't want them mentioned in the newspapers. Of course when the police give out the news in some cases they can't help themselves.

It's always a good idea to have an invitation when you want to visit some families. There are ways of giving gifts that will make one want to go back home.

Many a chorus girl has been pinched when the cops couldn't find anything on her.

I WONDER WHY
Why do we speak so crossly to relative or friend?
We often act as though we like to injure and offend;
And always seem to take offense At everything they do.
While they're the ones that stand by us And are most tried and true.

Why do we snub or try to hurt The ones that are most dear?
We say mean things about them And care not if they hear.
If we thought that it would hurt them We might even tell a lie;
But if they really needed us We would fight until we die.

We say they try to put on airs If they are light and gay;
But if they get in trouble We will help in every way.
To please and make them happy We so seldom ever try;
I have never found the answer, And so I wonder why.

"The dirty dog," cried the student as his weenie sandwich fell in the mud.

Very often it looks as if the members of the committee are all named before the meeting. All it takes is a motion to confirm the selection.

We met a country-editor friend the other day.
"We're surprised to see you out here now," we said. "How's the paper going?"
"The paper's going fine, but I thought it best to take a little vacation," he replied. "I made my decision the day our makeup man put the announcement of the town belle's engagement under the joke column."

Question: What is the proper form of thanking people for graduation gifts? If it is by letter, should I use small cards or stationery?—Marion.
Answer: Each donor must receive a letter from you. And the letter should be written on your very best stationery.

Question: I am to be married in Navy blue with white accessories. Can you tell me what kind of corsage is most suitable with these?—Doe.
Answer: Of course an orchid or two makes an ideal corsage. Its color harmonizes beautifully with Navy. If they are a little too expensive for your fiancé, orchid colored sweet peas are very lovely.

Question: I have always heard that it is not smart to seat a man and wife together at table. Does this apply also to the bride and groom at their reception dinner?—B.
Answer: No. This is the one time that they should be seated side by side.

GOT HER EYES OPEN

A local girl had the feeling that she was being forgotten by the young men. No attention has been paid to her this summer. At last she got her eyes open; we mean she took off her goggles so the boys could get a glimpse of her pretty brown eyes.

"Don't wear those goggles, kid, because if the boys can't catch your eye they won't speak to you," said a friend. "And they don't know if you're cross-eyed or not. I sure found that out, and I don't wear 'em any more."

Latin-American Reaction Is Watched
Effect Of Russian War Being Probed
May Reflect Attitude Of Mother Land

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, July 2—Latin-American reaction to Herr Hitler's war declaration against Russia is being alertly watched by Uncle Sam's state department. It's yet a bit too soon for it to have manifested itself very clearly to observers in Washington. It is quite understandable, however, considering our keen interest in western hemispherical solidarity, that Yankee diplomacy is acutely anxious to learn as speedily as it can, how our neighbors take to our own obvious judgment that the situation's one in which it pays the world's democracies to help the Muscovites against the Nazis, regardless of their deep disapproval of Communism.

Except the Brazilians, who are mostly Portuguese (and Portugal certainly isn't pro-Nazi, since it's in imminent danger of being gobbled by the totalitarians, through Spain), our hemisphere's Latins, of course, are basically Spanish, and there's some apprehension that they'll reflect their mother land's apparent hostility toward Moscow in the present crisis.

It's a Spanish attitude, though, which may not be nearly as close to 100 per cent as early reports from Madrid indicate.

These dispatches tell of tremendous pro-German demonstrations in Madrid itself and in Barcelona, Valencia and elsewhere—in popular clamor for the country to join the Axis in outright war upon the latter's enemies.

No doubt such demonstrations actually are occurring, but it doesn't necessarily follow that they're representative of Spain's entire population.

What Happened in Spain
It's like this: Spain gravitated out of a monarchy into a so-called republic—a pretty Communistic one. It was guilty of various excesses. Due to this overdoing of matters, probably, a strong opposition Falangist party developed itself—Falangism being the Spanish equivalent of Naziism or Fascism. Finally, under Generalissimo Franco, it started an anti-republic revolution. The republicans (loyalists, as they termed themselves) put up a stiff fight. Moscow, presumably regarding them as meddling good Communists, helped 'em all it could, and it's quite likely they'd have won, but for the still more formidable aid rendered to the Falangists by Herr Hitler and Signor Mussolini.

Well, after devastating civil war, Falangism triumphed and Generalissimo Franco set himself up as Caudillo—Spanish for Fiehrer or Duce.
Naturally, Franco and the rest of the Falangists are grateful to the Communists for helping the other side. But there can't be a lot of republicans (or Communists) left in Spain—I'd guess half of the population at least.

For the Falangists to demonstrate anti-Communism is what you'd expect. Probably Caudillo Franco encourages 'em and keeps the former "loyalists" suppressed. But let him call off some of his own strength at home, to aid the Axis against Russia, and it's a safe bet that he'd have a terrific revolution on his hands in Spain. I don't believe he'll take the risk. He likes demonstrations, but that, I think, is about all.

Incidentally, there are more than a few Communists south of the Rio Grande. I don't say this is a congratulatory way. All I mean is that those boys aren't going to say that they're prepared to drop everything and fight Communism and hook up with ANYBODY for the purpose, like Caudillo Franco, in Spain.

BIRTHDAYS OF FAMOUS AMERICANS

(Compiled by Encyclopedia Britannica)

JULY 2

1810—Robert Toombs, political leader. U. S. senator and brigadier-general in the Confederate army, in Wilkes County, Georgia. He had been in the senate eight years when Georgia joined the Confederacy. He was secretary of state in President Davis' cabinet for a short time and then was appointed brigadier-general in the army of Northern Virginia.

1825—Richard Henry Stoddard, writer at Hingham, Mass. He began contributing to the magazines at an early age and his first book of poems, "Foot-prints," was published in 1848. He was literary editor of New York papers for many years.

1840—Francis Amasa Walker, soldier and economist, at Boston. After serving in the Civil war, he became a professor in the Sheffield Scientific School of Yale and later was elected president of Massachusetts School of Technology. His principal work, "The Science of Wealth," attained great popularity as a textbook.

1872—George William Mundelein, cardinal, at New York City. He became archbishop of Chicago November 30, 1915, and was created a cardinal by Pope Pius XI on March 24, 1924.

The World and the Mud Puddles

THOSE "ALLIGATOR PEARS."

I remember back in the by-gones of eating what they called at that time alligator pears. Neither I nor my friends had many of these delicacies, they were too expensive. They were raised somewhere in the West Indies or in tropical America. I never have found out why they called them alligator pears, for the Spanish peoples who raised them called them avocados.

Now, looking up in the Encyclopedia as to why they were called avocados, I find no answer except that the Encyclopedia volunteered the information that the word was from the Spanish, meaning avocado. Now, what this Spanish fruit has advocated, I do not know. The Encyclopedia goes on to say that the word avocado was equivalent to the Aztec word, "ahuacatl." All I got out of that was that the fruit known as avocado was raised by the ancient people of Central and South America—by the Aztecs, in fact.

I wonder how they pronounced that Aztec word and I also wonder if any learned man assayed the pronunciation of the Aztec language. Perhaps the pronunciation like the pronunciation of the Danish word, "Bjornson," the "B" being silent.

As far as the history of the avocado is concerned, however, nothing is known about the fruit prior to the time when a Spaniard by the name of Martinez Fernandez de Encisco found the people of Santa Marta in the Province of Columbia raising it back in the year 1519, but it was not until 1833 that a native of Florida started to raise avocados.

This last history is all taken from the Encyclopedia Britannica and I presume it is therefore, correct. The mystery concerning the name of this fruit remains unsolved. Why did Americans ever call the fruit alligator pears? Did they do so because the swamps of Florida are inhabited by alligators and the fruit resembles in shape, the English pear?

Now avocados are grown in great quantities in Florida and California. The fruit growers of California, particularly, went crazy over the development of avocado groves. When this great development started in, avocados were selling for forty and fifty cents a pound, and now you can buy them for ten cents a pound.

DON'T STAY DOWN

Down and such a simple blow!
"One and two," the fates are counting!
"Three and four," the seconds go.
Fights is the number mounting.
"Five and six," and "seven and eight!"
Hurry boy, the end is nearing!
Up again before too late.
Fight and set the crowd to cheering!
Down! Oh, set the chin a bit!
Blows like that should not defeat you.
Up and take a fight of it!
Don't let lack of courage beat you!
Fate, the grim old referee,
Stands and counts the seconds flying;
Up and fight for victory,
Up again and keep on trying.

There's the bell! Another round!
Never let your faith be shaken.
Off the better man is found.
By the sum of blows he's taken.
Up and at him! Done with doubt.
Signs of weakness are appearing.
Up once more and fight it out.
You may set the crowds to cheering.

After fifty years of courtship Mr. and Mrs. George Champlain of Elizabeth, N. J., are now on their honeymoon.

They had intended to get married time after time, but business reverses or something or other always interfered.

The bride, formerly Miss Mary Crowe, a dressmaker, prepared her trousseau many years ago but gave it away, piece by piece.

Now both are in their late sixties and hope for quite a few more years of happiness.

Are you waiting for some "lucky break" or for things to "pick up"? Don't! Statistics show that only one in ten marriages goes on the rocks because of financial troubles.

Federal Power Commission Seeks To Alleviate Power Shortage In Southeast Area

By WILLIAM E. ZIMMERMAN
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 2—Exercising its emergency powers for the first time, the federal power commission on Tuesday moved to alleviate the acute power shortage throughout the southeast caused by increasing defense needs and the recent drought.

The governmental power agency ordered a series of interconnections among power companies, municipal plants and R. E. A. cooperatives, tapping generating resources from Florida to Illinois and from Texas to Virginia.

Commission officials said that purpose of the action is to bolster power supply for essential southeastern defense industries, including new aluminum plants in North Carolina, Alabama and Arkansas jointly recommended by the F. P. C. and the O. P. M. through strengthening the 17 state power pool initiated by the commission a month ago.

Completion of the interconnections, some of which can be effected immediately while others will require as much as six months to construct, will make available to the southeastern power supply additional capacity estimated at 200,000 kilowatts.

Power Needs Acute

At the same time the commission recommended that the T. V. A. and the Cincinnati Gas and Electric Co. study and report within two weeks on their conclusions with regard to constructing a heavy interconnecting transmission line between T. V. A. facilities at Watts Bar and Nashville, Tenn., and the company's Columbia steam plant in Ohio.

The commission said that power needs were rendered particularly acute by the practice of the aluminum industry which, in expanding for defense production, had continued to depend upon large quantities of seasonal power although the emergency called for continuous production.

The interconnections will bridge the gap in the southeast power supply until the necessary large additions to generating capacity can be constructed for the increasing power needs in the area resulting from the expanded rearmament drive, officials said.

Operation of the new connections will help meet the electricity shortage for power-rationed consumers of Alabama, Georgia, and Tennessee, the commission said, by "making possible a wider sharing of curtailment of non-essential uses of power throughout the region, with a consequent reduction of the burden on non-defense consumers in a particular area."

Chain Letters Are Not Legal Even In Defense

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 2—The U. S. post office department Tuesday ruled that chain letters can't be made legal by dressing them up with national defense appeal.

The ruling was made by Walter E. Kelly, acting solicitor of the department, after he received reports from Denver that chain letters bearing national defense saving stamps were popping up in the Colorado area.

Senders of the chain letters asked the receivers to send a 25 cent defense stamp to the name at the top of the list, with each person supposed to receive more than $700 in defense bonds in the long run.

Kelly said that the letters were a "violation of lottery statutes and therefore illegal."

"I wouldn't say that the post office department frowns on such a proposal," he said. "It's just simply against the law." He said he had informed Colorado officials of the department's attitude.

subject matter of the speech in the speech itself," Knox told his press conference.

Asked if he had any reply to the demand of Sen. Wheeler (D) Mont., that he resign his cabinet post, Knox turned to reporters and said "I'll let you write the answer to that one."

Knox revealed that three of 63 marines who had been detailed to fire warden duty in London were still unaccounted for following the torpedoing of the Dutch merchant ship Maarsden last week.

He said that eight of eleven marines on that vessel had been rescued, and the balance of the 63 men had been landed safely "somewhere in England."

The fate of the three marine privates is still undetermined, he said, but he expressed the hope that they may have been picked up by some British rescue ship.

Administration denies that an impeachment resolution against Knox is being considered were challenged by the statements of members of the non-intervention bloc that they had been asked to support it.

New Airport Is Dedicated At Youngstown

YOUNGSTOWN, July 2.—Braving a temperature of almost 100 degrees, nearly 10,000 Youngstown persons on Tuesday thronged the city's new municipal airport at Vienna for dedication ceremonies.

Moving without a hitch, the schedule of events carried through from the arrival before noon of the first United Air Lines and Pennsylvania-Central Air Lines scheduled planes.

A luncheon for 600 prominent Youngstown and visiting celebrities was followed by official dedication services.

Opening of the airport to regular plane service marked the return of Youngstown to air lanes which it left 11 years ago because of inadequate landing facilities.

Mayor William B. Spagnola opened the ceremonies by welcoming officially C. Bedel Munro, president of the Pennsylvania-Central, and Harold Cray and Richard Pfennig, United Air Lines vice presidents.

At the luncheon, William B. Stout, designer of the famous tri-motor planes popular a few years ago, said: "No man can forecast what aviation is going to bring forth in the next 10 years, either because of or in spite of the war."

Stout said that the airplane industry had far surpassed even the wildest estimates made two years ago. He predicted light, cheap and safe planes, with landing fields everywhere, within a few years.

News Notes From Camp East Brook

Monday mornings' assembly period held an extra treat for the campers. "Kit" presented in interesting fashion, many facts of local history. She then invited the girls' assistance in arranging it into pageant form. "Chirp" introduced a new song for cabin illustration. The results of last week's song for interpretation with art work are now posted on the walls of the cabin lodge. The song was "Baby's Boat". The pictures are helping to create the proper atmosphere among the girls observing rest hour on the porch these warm days.

"Penuche's" nature corner was an active place during the morning. Girls gathered around the large table to cut adhesive tape and put together their glass terrariums. Others went to gather sticks for ferneries. A large polypheum was mounted and plans made for an early morning bird hike.

"Scottie" led the campers in active games during the early part of the evening. At 7:30 Dr. Mildred Rodgers arrived, in response to the staff's request and led the group in a fine discussion on "The Health of Campers". The girls then departed in fine spirits for their crackers and milk and good night "sing".

SISTERS START HORSEBACK TOUR OF NORTH DAKOTA

(International News Service)

PIERRE, S. D.—Following the tradition of the pony express, Irene and Alice Angerhofer, two young sisters of Milbank, S. D., are making a thousand-mile tour of their state on horseback.

The girls, disregarding the modern conveniences of motor car and railroad, set out from their home on two good mounts and within three weeks had traversed the state on a 500-mile jaunt to the Black Hills. One of their main objectives was Mount Rushmore where the gigantic carvings of the late Gutzon Borglum are situated.

The girls reported that their main inconvenience was rain but that they also found difficulty securing accommodations for their horses—even in the range section of South Dakota the old-fashioned livery stable has almost passed out of existence.

Downs Reveals Rest Of His Experiences As Prisoner Of War

(Editor's Note: Kenneth Downs, ace war correspondent of International News Service, described in a dramatic dispatch yesterday how he had narrowly escaped with his life when caught in a bloody ambush outside Damascus, Syria. He concludes today with a story of his experiences as a prisoner of war and his eventual liberation.)

By KENNETH DOWNS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ANKARA, July 2.—Taken to Damascus after our narrow escape, Bob Low and I were treated with great courtesy by military but with a corresponding lack of courtesy by civil and political authorities.

A colonel of the Deuxieme Bureau (the French Secret Service) examined our credentials and said:

"I don't suppose you would care to answer any questions regarding military matters."

We replied that we couldn't. The colonel smiled and said:

"I didn't think so. Therefore I won't even ask any questions."

We were taken heavily guarded to the gendarmerie to spend the night with ten other prisoners, including two British officers and eight Indian Subalterns.

A let-down from the afternoon's fantastic experience began to set in. We had the usual reactions following an experience of great danger—extreme fatigue and hunger.

We sent a guard to the restaurant for two steaks apiece, mountains of potatoes and a bucket of tea. I had been on the wagon for two months, but now I drank a quart of arak—the powerful absinthe-like drink of the country—as though it was water.

We slept 14 hours. When I awoke

I saw them burning official papers in the prison courtyard at La Paris in 1940, and I knew that the fall of Damascus was imminent.

Early in the afternoon, an officer informed Low and myself that we were leaving for Beirut immediately. As we raced out the narrow pass at the western end of the city I saw troops firing from houses and from under automobiles along the roads and walls. British and Indian troops were sniping down from the bluffs above.

At Beirut we were taken directly to the headquarters of General Henri Dentz, where we were confronted by M. Conti, the chief political administrator and an extremely angry and upset man. His first words were:

"You are in very unfortunate positions. You are spies and should be shot."

Demand Explanation

We demanded an explanation. Conti continued:

"First, this is not war but aggression (referring to the British and Free French invasion of Syria). Therefore you have no right to be in Syria."

"Second, you were caught with combat troops."

"We are not spies but accredited war correspondents," I replied with some heat.

"Of course, we will not shoot you because we are not brutes, we are French. You will be interned for a certain period and then expelled."

I informed him that a number of war correspondents on the Syrian front at present are unaware of any such rule regarding their status.

"Well, you can tell them they will be treated as spies," Conti said.

Friendly intervention by United States Consul William Gwynne brought cancellation of the internment and expansion order and we were placed in his custody until our departure the next afternoon for Turkey.

At Beirut we found the same signs of readiness to fold up that we had seen in Damascus. There was no enthusiasm for the war and a conviction that the Allies would win Syria. I learned that the French population in Syria is about 85 per cent in favor of the British, but is unwilling to do anything about it.

I was given convincing evidence that large numbers of Germans were moving into Syria prior to the Allied attack—mainly aviation ground and technical crews in civilian clothes. They left hurriedly when hostilities commenced. The French refused their offers of aid although the Germans had offered 400 stukas for a starter.

We had to laugh when we walked into the lobby of the Ankara Palace hotel when at the sight of us in our torn, desert battle dress a group of Germans was quite visibly jolted for an instant.

"We are not spies but accredited war correspondents," I replied with some heat.

"Of course, we will not shoot you because we are not brutes, we are French. You will be interned for a certain period and then expelled."

I informed him that a number of war correspondents on the Syrian

FRANK FARRONE IS FLIGHT INSTRUCTOR

Frank Farrone has successfully passed all requirements for a flying instructor's rating, and is now fully qualified to teach students to fly airplanes.

Farrone took a refresher course at Clarksburg, W. Va., to brush up on the flying qualifications before taking the government test. He is a well-known local pilot, having flown at the local airport for several years.

ANOTHER WALKOUT

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS, July 2.—Approximately 1800 A. P. of L. building trades workers walked off the job today at a $4,000,000 national defense construction project at Jefferson Barracks in St. Louis county, in protest against the government's employment of non-union WPA painters and plumbers.

Hill speaks of "paying $600.00 to have the kid's teeth straightened." In a hick town, the whole family doesn't pay dentists that much in a life-time.

Report Russian Naval Squadron Bombs Naval Base

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, July 2.—A Russian naval squadron has shelled and destroyed the German-occupied naval base of Constanta, on the Rumanian Black Sea coast, the London radio said today, according to a broadcast picked up in New York by NBC.

The Soviet attackers caught the Constanta defense unawares, NBC said.

Inglewood Plane Strike Settlement Is Agreed Upon

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, July 2.—Officials of the North American Aviation Inc., of Inglewood, Calif., announced in Washington Tuesday that the firm has accepted recommendations of the national mediation board for the settlement of its dispute with C. I. O.'s United Automobile Workers Union.

Chief stumbling block in the negotiations was a so-called "maintenance of membership" clause in the contract demanded by the union. The company said it "seriously questioned" the advisability of the clause but explained that it was accepting it "because under the defense program the board is charged with the final responsibility for making these decisions."

In a statement, J. L. Atwood, vice-president of the company, said that "we trust this settlement recommended by the mediation board will permit this company to continue to accelerate its production of aircraft for the defense program."

CONSCIENTIOUS OBJECTORS OPEN 'MANEUVERS'

(International News Service)
MARIETTA, O.—Shouldering picks and shovels in lieu of rifles, the first contingent of 44 conscientious objectors to arrive at Camp Marietta is engaged in its initial "maneuvers"—cultivating a state forest nursery.

The number will be increased to 75 when, on June 23, the second quota of 35 draftees gets into camp.

The personnel of the camp now includes two school teachers, a refrigeration engineer, a salesman, a cabinet-maker, stone mason, painter, claw worker, accountant, newspaperman, and a former teacher of political science at Duke University. The remainder of the quota is composed of young men from the farms of north-central Ohio who are members of the Mennonite or Amish faiths.

Murdered Girl Lived Near Sharon

SHARON, Pa., July 2.—Plans were incomplete today for the funeral of Miss Patricia Frances Patrick, 19, of Grover street, Brookfield township, found murdered yesterday in a hotel at Akron, O.

George Younes, 57, who, according to Akron police, confessed the slaying, is being returned from New York to Akron to face a charge of murder. He was sought here and in Farrell last night, a few hours before his arrest when he got off a bus in New York City.

Akron police said he blamed his act on an argument over money Mrs. Jacob Kitzner, Grover street mother of the dead girl, said she had not seen her daughter since last Christmas.

FIND SUBSTITUTE FOR ALUMINUM RECORDING DISC

(International News Service)
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 2.—A number of tons of aluminum will be saved for national defense through the discovery of a substitute for the aluminum disc used in "reference" recordings of the Radio Corporation of America, according to J. M. Smith, vice president in charge of the Indianapolis RCA division.

The new recording blank is fire-resistant and has a paper core, with a special cardboard material, Smith said. Unlike standard phonograph records, which are made from a compound of shellac and other plastics, records used for RCA reference recordings were made of an aluminum disc, coated with lacquer for a cutting surface.

The "reference" recording blanks are used in broadcasting studios, airline terminals and other locations where sound is recorded for reference purposes.

It takes more than 12 million gross or nearly 150 million, of safety pins each year to do the job safety pins do in the United States, according to the census bureau.

Toll Rates Cut
By Bell CompanyNew Tariff Will Become Effective In Pennsylvania
July 10

As a result of negotiations between the Public Utility Commission of Pennsylvania and The Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania, and between the Federal Communications Commission and the various companies of the Bell System, there have been made substantial reductions in rates for toll and long distance telephone service which will result in annual savings to telephone subscribers in Pennsylvania amounting to $1,197,000.

The Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania is, accordingly, filing with the Public Utility Commission of Pennsylvania new tariffs, effective July 10, covering principally reductions in rates for toll calls in the range of distances between 144 miles and 1,530 miles, and also reducing the over-time rates on person-to-person toll and long distance calls to the level of the existing over-time rates on station-to-station calls.

Survey Reveals
Gifts Preferred
By Boys At Camp

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, July 2.—The million boys now in military training appreciate food more than any of the other presents they receive from friends and family, according to a survey conducted in 17 of the largest camps in all parts of the country.

In a survey seeking information for millions of women readers who have relatives or friends in camp, it was found that smoking supplies are the second most popular gifts received, followed by clothes, letters, toilet articles and money.

Break-down of the survey reveals the following results:
1. Food products led by candy, cake and cookies.
2. Smoking supplies, led by cigarettes, tobacco and pipes.
3. Clothing led by socks, handkerchiefs and shirts.
4. Letters from home.
5. Toilet articles, led by shaving material, towels and soap.
6. Money, especially toward the end of the month.

Other articles most frequently mentioned were home-town newspapers, magazines, writing materials, books and photographs.

Col. Lindbergh Strongly Assails Soviet Russia

(International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, July 2.—Breaking his silence on the Russo-German conflict, Charles A. Lindbergh today went on record with a bitter condemnation of Soviet Russia and a new plea to keep America out of all European wars.

Lindbergh spoke before a crowd of 15,000 at an America first rally in San Francisco last night, declaring:

"I would a hundred times rather see my country ally herself with England, or even with Germany with all her faults, than with the cruelty, the godlessness and the barbarism that exist in Soviet Russia."

The former army reserve colonel urged a national dedication to Americanism in an address broadcast by two national networks.

Stay Out of War

"The fundamental point," he continued, "is that we do not want to ally ourselves with Russia, or Germany, or England, or with any foreign power that seeks to enmesh us in the quarrels and chaos of Europe."

"We do not fight for the Russian way of life, or the German way of life, or the English way of life, or for any way of life except our own."

"Why should the United States of America be divided by these eternal European wars? Why dissipate our strength and unity here at home in an attempt to force us into another European war?"

"Why give up an impregnable position in America for a hazardous and untenable position in Europe?"

"Why bring to this country the chaos, the intolerance, and the hatred that will inevitably come with a foreign war?"

He denounced interventionists for delaying the war between the totalitarian powers, and for their urging that the United States now line up with Russia against Germany.

Demands Price Boost On Wheat Before Control

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 2.—Jumping into the congressional fight over proposed price-fixing legislation Rep. John E. Rankin (D) Miss., a leader of the powerful "farm bloc," today served notice on defense officials that farmers must be given $1.75 to $2.00 a bushel for wheat and $1.50 a bushel for corn before any rigid price controls are established.

"I protest most violently against your threat to fix ceilings for cotton, cotton textiles, cottonseed products or any other farm products," Rankin said in a letter to federal price administrator Leon Henderson.

Insisting that farmers be given "100 percent parity prices," Rankin continued:

"With the present prevailing prices of industrial commodities and wages paid industrial labor, the farmer is entitled to 25 cents a pound for his cotton, $60 to $75 a ton for his cotton seed, $1.75 to $2 a bushel for his wheat and $1.50 for his corn with the prices of other farm commodities in proportion."

There are 126 class one railroads in the United States.

Urges C. C. C. Labor On State Farms To Alleviate Shortage

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, July 2.—Auditor
General P. Clair Ross today urged assignment of youths of the C. C. C.
to work on farms and orchards during the approaching harvest season to alleviate a pending labor shortage.

In a letter to President Roosevelt,

Ross, who is Pennsylvania chairman of the American Legion committee on national defense, and a member of the state defense council, wrote:
"I respectfully suggest that you give serious consideration to the possibility of granting temporary leaves to the youth of our C. C. C. camps so that they may come to the aid of our farmers, so hard-pressed to fulfill their vital part in our defense plan."

"I would suggest that during such leaves all enrollees be removed from the C. C. C. payroll, and be permitted to work on farms, at the rate prevailing... and afterwards be restored to their previous C. C. C. status when the harvests have been completed."

Hoover Says He's Too Old To Think Of Any Campaign

Suggestion Made That Hoover
And Lindbergh Run On Non-Intervention Ticket

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 2.—Former President Herbert Hoover today declared that he was too old to consider running for president on a non-intervention ticket with Col.
Charles A. Lindbergh in 1944. Hoover will be 71 at that time.

The former chief executive made the statement in commenting on a New York newspaper editorial suggesting a Republican ticket of Hoover and Lindbergh at the next national election with the question of non-intervention in Europe's war as the issue.

Hoover stated that the non-intervention issue should have "no color of politics."

He sent the following telegram to the newspaper:
"I feel greatly complimented by your editorial of yesterday. I have announced frequently and irrevocably that I would never again accept public office. My age, compared to the youth necessary to that position, should be sufficient confirma-

Release Children In Salute Case

(International News Service)
PONTIAC, Mich., July 2.—Two children of members of Jehovah's Witnesses were released Tuesday from the Oakland County Juvenile Center after serving one week of a 30-day sentence for refusing to salute the flag in their school when Circuit Court Judge George B. Hartrick overruled the sentence imposed by the probate court judge.

Judge Hartwick referred to the sentence of Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore as "hasty action contrary to the American way of considering the family the primary institution in America's social life," in acting on the appeal of the parents of Irene Castle, 13, and Frederick Hurado, 12.

The Jehovah's Witnesses are a religious sect and consider such actions as the saluting of the flag "worship of a graven image."

Smoking henbane seeds was an old country "cure" for toothache.

LIFE'S UPS AND DOWNS
(International News Service)
NEW YORK—The boxing game was good to Dominick Petrone. During his ring career as a lightweight he earned "upward of $300,000." He was brought into court recently following the running down of a five-year-old boy with his automobile. Petrone was unable to pay a $2 fine for driving without a license, so a friend came to his aid. Pe-trone's lawyer explained that the ex-boxer had lost his money through poor speculation.

Admiral Lord Nelson was the hero of the battle of Trafalgar.

Clerk In German Embassy Suicides In Washington, D. C.

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, July 2.—Heinz Nostiz, 41, an administrative clerk in the German embassy, shot and killed himself in the embassy Tuesday in what German officials said was a "fit of mental depression."

The embassy immediately waived all diplomatic immunity so that capital police would enter its grounds to make an investigation. Unless immunity is waived, police cannot set a foot on the ground of foreign embassies in the capital.

Embassy officials explained that they took the step so that there could be no doubt surrounding the cause of Nostiz' death. They announced that Nostiz had been ill for the last six months and had been mentally depressed.

Bigelow Boulevard Workman Is Injured

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, July 2.—A Sharpshurg workman was injured Tuesday when a boom collapsed on the Bigelow boulevard-Seventh avenue over-pass construction job, dropping a 40-ton, 84-foot-long steel girder. The girder, the girder and a section of the concrete abutment were wrecked.

Frank Braudigan, 49, of Sharpshurg was knocked off the wall for a distance of about 25 feet. He was taken to Mercy hospital, but was not believed critically hurt. It was the third accident on the project. Firemen said the crash was caused by buckling of a stationary leg of the derrick.

SAFE DRIVERS GET PINS

A total of 51 years of safe driving was recognized when the New Castle Water Co. presented pins to nine of its car and truck drivers. Five of the group had seven-year perfect records while two others had driven six years without an accident.

Special Excursion Fares Cancelled

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, July 2.—The Pennsylvania Railroad Tuesday cancelled all special excursion fares from Pittsburgh over July 4 and the holiday week-end in anticipation of over-flow "regular" traffic.

Among the rates eliminated were "specials" to Atlantic City July 5, week-end fares to Atlantic City, Chicago and Washington, and a Sunday special to Cleveland.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad said special fares to New York and Detroit over the week-end are unchanged.

House Action Bars Communists From State Relief Rolls

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, July 2.—By identical votes of 176 to 0 the House of Representatives Tuesday afternoon passed bills barring Communists from the election ballot and from the direct relief rolls.

The house voted the ballot ban without debate but Republican members objected strenuously to amendments inserted by Democrats in the other anti-Red measure passed. The Republicans held that the amendments tended to weaken the bill. They voted for it, however.

Under the ballot ban voted, the governor, attorney general and secretary of the commonwealth, or county board of elections, were empowered as a committee to reject a Communist nominating petition. Appeals may be taken to the courts.

Both bills went to the senate for concurrence.

It's 8 ways better! Try it and see!

"ME GET EXCITED over a cake of soap?" Is that you —being indifferent? Wait—listen!

Take off that cheery Swan wrapper; look at that luscious, pure, white cake; feel the smooth firmness of it; smell the clean freshness of it. And next thing you know—you're falling for Swan, the first honest-to-goodness different floating soap in your whole lifetime!

Different? Yes—better in eight distinct ways!

1. Whiter! Pure as imported castile!
Swan's as mild, by test, as imported olive oil castile—considered until now tops in mildness—the recognized "baby" soap. As for Swan's purity, ask your doctor. He has the details in his medical journals.

2. Suds two times quicker!
Swan breaks into rich, creamy, luxurious suds two times quicker than old-style floating soaps. Suds that don't go flat if you leave your dishpan a minute.

3. Much firmer! Lasts and lasts!
Feel this harder, firmer cake and you can tell it has far less moisture than old-style floating soaps.

4. Lathers swell in hard water!
Swan gives rich lather in hard water—while old-style floating soaps give only a few skimpy suds!

5. Breaks as if sliced!
No need to find a knife or string to cut Swan. No jagged, rough edges. It breaks smoothly into two lovely cakes—one for kitchen, one for bathroom.

6. Swan smells fresher!
Never harsh or strong. And it keeps its fresh, clean, wholesome odor down to the last useful sliver.

7. Smoother, finer-textured!
Swan's richer—yet it's so money-saving you'll feel free to use it all over the house. It won't warp out of shape, either.

8. Gives you more real soap!
Swan has much less moisture than old-type floating soap. No need to store a supply to harden. We've done it!

Order Swan from your store today...and compare! Use it for face, hands, bath; for baby; for silks, dishes; for woodwork. Then—if you don't say: "Swan for us!"—we'll give you double your money back. Simply send the wrapper to Swan, Lever Brothers Company, Cambridge, Mass.

Strange Love Pact Is Bared To Jury

Doctor Takes Witness Stand In Own Defense In Trial
For Murder

(International News Service)
BATH, Me., July 2.—Taking the witness stand in his own defense, Dr. Merrill E. Joss, 34, of Richmond, today bared to a jury a strange love pact he had with his physician wife, Dr. Laverne Harris Joss, 38, whom he is accused of bludgeoning to death.

They agreed, he said, to allow each other their freedom if either fell in love with another.

His wife, he testified, had agreed to give him a divorce so he could marry the so-called "other woman" in the case, Mrs. Elizabeth Chapman Mayo, 35, Richmond tea room proprietress.

His testimony was designed to refute the prosecution claim that Dr. Joss murdered his wife so he could marry Mrs. Mayo, who, it was testified, was likewise planning a divorce.

Dr. Joss told the story of his life, including his college days at Cornell university.

Five years ago he met his wife when they were attached to a Valhalla, N. Y., hospital.

Some months before her death, the testimony brought out, Mrs. Joss was stricken with an incurable disease.

From that time on, according to Defense Attorney Ernest L. Goodspeed, Dr. and Mrs. Joss had lived as brother and sister and had entered into the pact to get a divorce if it became necessary. It was the second marriage for both as both had been divorced.

Dr. Joss told of events leading to his discovery of his wife's body in the cellar of their home. He told of leaving the house to walk to the village center and of hearing his dog barking.

Before leaving his house, Dr. Joss testified, he was accosted by a "bearded stranger" who demanded narcotics. He told the man to "get the hell out" before he left for the village, the physician said.

Dr. Joss contends that his wife was slain by the bearded man. Four other witnesses have testified that they saw a mysterious "bearded stranger" in or near Richmond at the approximate time of the crime.

Another Arrest In Spy Suspect Round-Up In U. S.

Ten Of 33 Suspects Arrested
Have Already Admitted
Their Guilt

NEW YORK, July 2.—F. B. I. agents made a 32d arrest today in their drive against foreign spies and heard three more of the suspects already bugged, plead guilty to espionage charges.

The suspected plotter arrested today was William Gustav Kaercher, 45, of Westwood, N. J., a German-born power plant designer.

Kaercher, arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Martin C. Epstein in Brooklyn, pleaded not guilty and was held in $25,000 bail.

Adolf Walschewsky, steward on the liner Uruguay and Conrad O. Doid, steward on the liner Excalibur, and Rene Emanuel Mezenen, former steward on Pan-American Airways clipper, pleaded guilty to the espionage charges while presentation of evidence against other spy suspects continued before a federal grand jury.

The three pleas today brought to 10 the number of suspects who have admitted guilt.

Kaercher, today's arrest, was said by government agents to have been a member of the "storm trooper" division of the German-American bun. Naturalized in 1921 he was employed by the American Gas & Electric company as a draftsman-designer.

Following a lengthy investigation by federal agents, ten civilian workers in the Brooklyn Navy yard were dismissed today for "suspicious activities and associations."

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Wright and son, Tommy, have motored to Ocean City, N. J., to attend a convention.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Kerr of McKeesport were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. William Robinson.

Mr. and Mrs. Loyal Wright and daughters attended the annual Schaffer reunion which was held Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Zeigler and daughter, Mary Lynn, were Sunday visitors of the former's father, John Zeigler.

Mrs. Craig and sons of Greenville spent several days at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Moyer.

Mrs. Nancy Davis of Slippery Rock, and Miss Mary Wright are spending several days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Wright.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Syphrit and family of North Ellwood Heights have returned to their home after spending two weeks vacation at Racine, Wis., and other points of interest in the West.

Mrs. Lester Wagner of Rockdale and Mrs. Arthur Taylor of Harmony attended the funeral of their uncle, Carl Brown, of New Castle, a railroad engineer, who was killed near Niles, O., when his train was derailed.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Sturgeon spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. William Dorper of Glenfield.

Rev. and Mrs. Spencer of New Wilmington were dinner guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Wright.

During the five years between 1935-1939, the last period for which complete national statistics have been compiled by the Census Bureau, death from injuries due to accidents totaled 501,458—a number greater than the 1940 population of such cities as New Orleans, Minneapolis, or Cincinnati.

Some Mystery In Appearance Of Two Suit Cases

How the two expensive suit cases got there, the police have yet to learn. All they know is that they were there—in front of the Sears, Roebuck & Co. store, 26-28 North Jefferson street, yesterday.

A store attaché reported them to police. It was believed an elderly lady had left them.

But the bags, it developed, were owned by Harold Nelson, of Maynard, O., who notified the city police in the meantime that he had left the missing luggage on the public square, where he had slept Sunday night.

City officers today packed them for shipment to the Ohio owner. They still don't know who moved them about a block to the Sears store.

According to the census estimates, nonschool employment of state and local governments totaled over two million persons in January 1941. Monthly pay rolls for nonschool employees were estimated at $198 million.

Later Starting Date

BEAVER FALLS, July 2.—Opening on schedule of the huge $5,200,000 Curtiss-Wright corporation in Borough township may depend upon a meeting tonight of Curtiss-Wright officials and the commissioners of Borough township.

The reason?
The plant scheduled for operation September 1 has as yet no water supply; and so far the corporation has no definite indication that it will get a drop of water to operate on scheduled time.

When plant officials started dickering for a site in or near Beaver, councilmen of Borough township promised adequate water supply. That promise was based on the proposal that the parcel of land upon which the new plant was to be built would be taken in as a part of Beaver borough. Later this was found to be impossible.

Further it was discovered that the present municipal water plant of Beaver borough is inadequate to furnish sufficient water for the new plant's needs.

It is estimated that to put the municipal water plant in condition to meet the demand an expenditure of about $125,000 would be needed. It has been determined that a new water plant to serve the Curtiss-Wright plant and all the residents of Borough township (Vancouver) would cost considerably less than to increase the capacity of the Beaver municipal water plant—or about $85,000.

Borough township officials have declined so far to build a water plant. Some secure water from Beaver others have drilled wells and cisterns. Curtiss-Wright has what water falls from Heaven and it appears that the company considers that source inadequate in ordinary times, of doubtful consistency, to say nothing of difficulty to be encountered in catching it.

Joe DiMaggio Equals Record

Yankee Centerfielder Will Try Hard To Beat Keeler's 44 Game Record Today

INDIANS DEFEAT ST. LOUIS BROWNS

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Staff Writer
NEW YORK, July 2.—With one eye still on Joe DiMaggio as he seeks to boost his hitting streak past the all-time record today, major league baseballers cast another optic ray toward the calendar and discovered that July 4th—the day they say you can know which clubs will win the pennants—is practically upon them.
It's time worn tradition that the teams leading the leagues on Independence day will be up there when they distribute the title flags.
Experience has shown, of course, that things do not always culminate according to custom, but if they happen to go along with tradition this season, the set-up should be something like this:
The Yankees vs. Guess Who (Brooklyn or St. Louis?) in the world series.
Indians Trip Browns
Cleveland tried to leap over some last ground in its American league pennant proceedings last night. The Indians won a game, beating St. Louis, 10 to 6.
But while the Tribe was winning one game, those Yanks were taking two, doubling Boston in both ends of a doubleheader, 7-2 and 9-2, all of which put the Bronx bombers two and a half games ahead of the tribe.
In the course of the contest, Mr. DiMaggio equaled Willie Keeler's 44-year-old record hitting spurge of 44 consecutive games by ending out two singles in the first frames and another in the finale.
The three Boston pitchers, Harris, Ryba and Potter, refused to serve home run balls in the first game, though, and the Yanks' phenomenal circuit clout spurge was capped at 25 straight contests.
Nevertheless, Manager Joe McCarthy's boys were ahead of the pack by such a margin that it appears they'll be there on July 4th, if that means anything.
Cards Thrown Pirates
Over in the National league, the St. Louis Cardinals bounced back to first place and a full game lead over Brooklyn. The Cards pounded Pittsburgh, 11 to 7, while the Dodgers were dropping a 6 to 4 decision in the tenth inning to Philadelphia. Anybody's guess is as good as yours and mine as to which of them will be on the top rung two days hence.
In the only game in that company, Boston batters routed Prince Hal Schumacher under a six-run barrage in the third inning and thereby defeated New York, 6 to 4.
The other brace of battles in the American circuit resulted in victories for Philadelphia and Detroit. The Athletics battered Washington, 10 to 1, behind the four-hit hurling of Rookie Phil Marchildon, and the defending champions gained a 5 to 1 decision over Chicago with Dizzy Trout turning in a three-hitter.

Boy Is Drowned At East Brady

EAST BRADY, Pa., July 2—Wilson Weibel, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Weibel, was drowned in the Allegheny river a short distance from his home yesterday. His body was recovered.

The boy slipped into the water from an improvised dock at the foot of Perry street, near the center of the town, while three playmates watched helplessly. The boy's companions were so frightened they could not scream.

It was an hour before it became known Wilson was missing. The body was found by Duane Jordan. The boy leaves his parents and six brothers and sisters.

Daily Dozen

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Pennsylvania's first filtration plant was built 52 years ago. This was at New Bethlehem, in Clarion county. The first chlorination plant was in Scranton in 1909. Today, most of Pennsylvania's drinking water is quite safe. Six of the nine million Pennsylvanians drink water doubly safe. This means the water has been both filtered and chlorinated. Another two million use water chlorinated only. People now demand palatable, as well as safe, water. It must be soft, not corrode plumbing and not stain linens. Springs along highways are marked when they are safe. People should not drink water or milk from unapproved sources. Typhoid fever has almost disappeared—thanks to pure water.

Instructions Given Defense Councils

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, July 2—Local defense councils today were urged to coordinate their peace-time or war-time activities with Pennsylvania's 111 chapters of the American Red Cross. Special instructions issued all local councils by the state council of defense outlined a division of responsibility so that both organizations could act along pre-determined lines in an emergency. "The possibilities of cooperation are far-reaching," Dr. Arnaud C. Marts, executive director of the state council said, pointing out that local organizations could avail themselves of the Red Cross first aid training and home nurse training courses.

"GOT CHANGE FOR A PENNY?"

Sounds funny, eh? Yet when it comes to electricity, you can do a lot of things for fractions of pennies—such as clean a rug or wash clothes, make coffee or toast, enjoy a radio program or refrigerate your food for quite a spell. How much do you spend per day for electricity? Then divide it all by the uses and see what a bargain it is!

Bargain Day for Electricity

Cost of living going up? Cheap electricity is still your best bargain. Use it to save in many ways. It never was cheaper than today. The price of your electric service is 43% less today than it was ten years ago.

Now's the time to buy electrical appliances. You'll be glad you did. Visit the dealer's stores—and ours, too.

Urges Citizens To Make Fourth Safe This Year

Hazardous Week-End Is Looked For With Increase In Traffic Congestion

CULLIFORD GIVES SAFE SUGGESTIONS

Harry Culliford, chairman of first aid, Lawrence County Chapter, American Red Cross, issued his annual Fourth of July warning. One reading these warnings might think Mr. Culliford the ace pessimist but his reason is apparent if one but reads The News each day and studies the accidents recorded.

"The Fourth of July week-end will be even more hazardous than in previous years because of increased congestion on the highways and at resort and recreational centers resulting in part from national defense activities.

"Traffic death figures for the first three months of 1941 released by the National Safety Council, reveal that if the present rate continues, the total for this year will surpass 40,000 deaths—an all-time high. Highway fatalities last year totaled 34,000—an increase of seven per cent over the total for 1939. Deaths from drowning each year average approximately 7,000.

"The vacationist must not only see to his own safety, but must anticipate the carelessness of others. The mistake of one motorist may result in fatality to those who may be obeying all the rules of the road."

This year's list of accidental deaths and injuries will be largely the result of carelessness and ignorance. For a safe Fourth, Mr. Culliford offers the following suggestions:

To motorists: Get an early start or the holiday week-end trip to get ahead of the congestion and allow plenty of time.

Make a thorough check-up of your tires, brakes, lights and steering gear, for many accidents are the result of faulty equipment.

Keep an eye on the "other fellow," who may cause the accident.

Be sure luggage piled in the back of the car does not obscure rear vision.

Sacrifice that last hour at the beach and leave for home before the crowd.

Remember that driving after dark is many times more hazardous and after-dark accidents are frequently more serious.

To swimmers: Enjoy your water sports at patrolled beaches.

Bear in mind that expert swimmers can be drowned from cramps caused by swimming too soon after eating.

June may have been the month of brides back a spell, but the axiom doesn't hold water in Lawrence County this year. Or last year either. May takes down the first honors for marriage licenses this year as it did in 1940.

In June this year there were 122 licenses applied for in the Lawrence County court house. In May there were 125 licenses applied for. May of 1940 was high with 149 and June of 1940 trailed with only 51.

There is a reason for the high number in May, 1940. That was the month when the new health examination law went into effect and the lads and lassies hurried to get under the wire before the new fee went into effect.

But for May this year there doesn't seem to be any reason for leading unless it is that June is slipping as the month of brides.

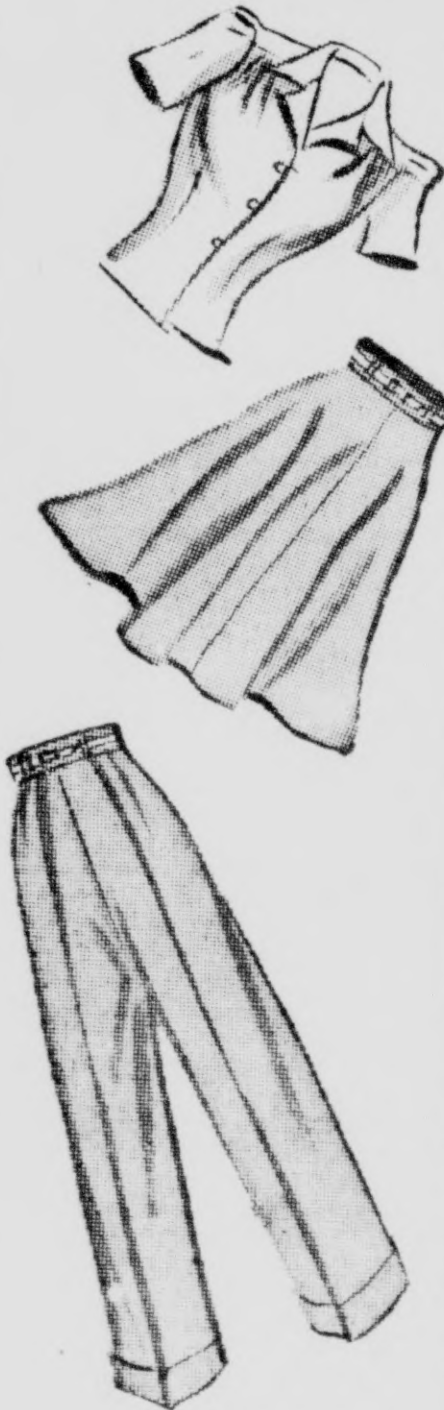

Friday and Saturday, July 11 and 12, are designated as special registration days for the City of New Castle. Registrars will sit in the office of Alderman James C. Brice on Jefferson street to register all those voters who have not yet registered or whose registration expired. July 8 will be a special registration day in Ellwood City.

RADIO NETWORK PATROLS PENNA. SUPER HIGHWAY

(International News Service) HARRISBURG—A "radio cop" patrols the new Pennsylvania super highway, overhauling motorists who try to evade the 70-mile-an-hour speed limit.

Installed at a cost of more than $300,000, the "cop" is a modern, two-way radio network, probably the first of its kind used on any highway. Twenty-six squad cars of the State motor police are equipped with transmitting and receiving sets, and there are 24 two-way sets at the interchanges and 25 additional receiving points along the 160-mile route.

Turnpike officials also have installed the sets in tunnel ventilation buildings, maintenance cars, fire trucks and in automobiles allotted to them.
